

Reproduction Evening

Please join us on

31st January 2019

at

Coombefield Veterinary Hospital, Axminster

7pm for 7.30pm start

An informative evening on breeding horses aimed at those who have already bred a foal or those considering breeding for the first time.

We aim to provide you with the information needed to choose a stallion, decide on the mating process and how to ensure your mare is in the best of health for conception and beyond.

The foaling process often causes anxiety, we hope to provide you with the information you need about what to expect and when to call us, that's if you are lucky enough to see your mare foal. They are very good at doing it when you least expect!!
